

MAY FILLIBUSTER ON PEACE TREATY

OPponents OF RATIFICATION PREPARE TO FIGHT.

They Will Contest Territorial Expansion Inch by Inch—A Special Session Will Probably Be Called, But The Debate May Be Protracted and Tedious.

Washington, Jan. 23.—[Special]—Six weeks from next Saturday the present congress will come to an end. There is little probability that it can be completed, and it has become the settled conviction of every one here that an extra session of the incoming congress will have to be called. There is not one chance in a thousand that the senate will ratify the treaty of peace with Spain before the 4th of March. Almost every one of the ninety senators wants to speak on one phase or another of the subject, and under the rules that govern that body there is no way by which they can be choked off. Each and every senator can talk a week or a month if he so desires. The previous question cannot be ordered, as in the house, to shut off debate, and the discussion may be prolonged as long as the wind of the senators' holds out.

The manner in which a minority of the senators may delay a measure of great national concern was illustrated several years ago when the silver demonization act was under consideration for several consecutive months. The tactics employed then, of speaking against time, will doubtless be pursued when the treaty question comes up. There is a small minority that is opposed to the expansion of territory, and these will fight ratification to the bitter end.

The president is much concerned over this matter, and is trying to devise a plan by which action may be hastened. Senator Davis has been in consultation with the executive over the situation. He is a man of many expedients, and as he is committed to the treaty, which was largely the result of his own labors, he will exercise his utmost endeavors to bring about a speedy ratification. But sanguine as he was on his return from Paris, he now admits the difficulties he will be compelled to encounter.

There is a little talk of using executive pressure to hasten ratification. The president is reluctant to resort to this expedient, but may be forced to it by the opposition. If he once enters upon such a policy he will carry it to a successful issue, no matter what the obstacles in his way may be.

The outlook at the present time is far from encouraging, however. The treaty's friends, while sure of ultimate success, recognize the fact that they have a hard struggle before them, and are preparing for it.

FORECAST OF WEATHER

Chicago, Jan. 23.—[Special]—Forecast for Wisconsin: Rain, turning to snow, tonight and Tuesday.

GLASS WORKERS HOLD OUT.

Indiana Factory May Import Nonunion Labor from Pennsylvania.

Wabash, Ind., Jan. 23.—The strike which has been on for the last ten days at the glass works at Swayzee, twenty miles southwest of this city, threatens to become serious. Guards are stationed around the buildings and yards, and no strangers are admitted.

It was reported Saturday that the owners of the works would import labor from Pennsylvania, in which event there will be difficulty, as a careful watch is being kept for new-comers by the union workmen. The proprietors affirm that they cannot afford to pay the wages demanded by the union men, and that unless the latter modify their demands the works, which are very extensive, will be equipped with machines.

Villages Were Destroyed.

Athens, Jan. 23.—Severe earthquakes occurred early Sunday morning in various sections of Peloponnese, the southern part of Greece. The most violent shocks were felt in the department of Philatra, in the province of Messenia, and at Kyparrisia, in the province of Laconia. Several villages were completely destroyed. A number of minor shocks warned the inhabitants, who fled to the fields before the heavier and destructive movements occurred, and a great loss of life was thus averted. It is not known yet whether there were any fatalities. Several persons were injured.

Will Pass Into Combine.

Youngstown, O., Jan. 23.—The return from Chicago of Henry Wick, president, and William H. Baldwin, secretary, of the Ohio Steel company, is followed by the announcement from sources that are considered trustworthy that the above-named plant will pass into the hands of the American tin-plate combine, the point of difference being a matter of price. It is also stated that the Mahoning Valley Iron company, the Brown-Bronell Iron company and the Andrews Bros. rolling mills will combine and erect a steel plant to furnish them the necessary steel from the raw material.

PAPER MILLS TO COMBINE

Writing Paper Trust Includes a Number of Wisconsin Plants.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 24.—The reports that representatives of the writing paper combine have secured opinions on the the mills which manufacture the grade of paper in Wisconsin are not received with much credence here. A representative of the Kimberly & Clark company, which controls the Shattuck & Babcock De Pere mill and the Teluash mill of this city, the largest in the west, refused to deny or confirm the report, saying in addition that the matter is not settled yet, for Mr. Shibley is to be in the valley again to negotiate with the manufacturers. It is learned from another source that none of the mills have as yet given opinions on their plants, though the final enlistment of the Wisconsin mill men in the combine is generally considered probable. The negotiations have not yet reached the point where the mill owners have given the minimum figure on a proposed sale of their plants to the trust, and when this is done it will not commit the manufacturers. The formation of the combine is still a matter of the future. Five Wisconsin mills are being negotiated for.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—The American Shorthorn Breeders' association will fight the effort of the Canadian cattle breeders to secure the abolition of the government tax on cattle imported from that province into the United States. At a meeting of the executive committee held in this city the matter was discussed at length, and it was finally decided to place it in the hands of the directors of the association, to take whatever action they see fit to maintain the existing import tax.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 23.—The army transport Port Victor arrived at Fort Monroe after nightfall. She comes from Porto Rico and has aboard 133 sick soldiers from the army hospitals in that island. WEARING THE BADGE OF SERVITUDE

CHICAGO IS ALL TORN UP OVER UNIFORMS.

Postoffice Employees Required to Wear Theirs At All Times—Many Resignations Are Expected—All Classes of People Are Now Wearing Badges Indicating Their Business.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—[Special]—There is a tempest of no small proportions among the employees of the postoffice here over the order recently issued by Postmaster Gordon requiring all employees in the postoffice to appear in uniform both while on duty and after their hours of service have ceased. Many object strenuously to such regulation, and there is a promise of wholesale resignations in case the order is enforced.

The order is but another outcropping of the livery craze that is sweeping over this city. Livered men are seen on every hand. There are coachmen, car drivers, railroad, street and elevated railway conductors, elevator men, door-tenders at all the leading stores, cabmen, bell-boys, and many others who carry the badges of their servitude conspicuously about them. Tens of thousands of men and boys in this city wear uniforms or other evidence that they are engaged in some menial employment. Even the reporters on the city newspapers wear stars upon their breasts.

There is a tendency among employers, especially among the large corporations, to compel their employees to wear some mark by which they can be recognized. They justify this requirement by claiming that it is necessary that they exercise a supervision over them out of working hours in order to protect themselves from loss in case their employees shall fall into dissolute habits.

But there is a growing opposition to this labelling of half the population as vassals, and it has already begun to make itself felt. It would surprise no one to see it made an issue in the city election. An ordinance will shortly be offered in the city council making it a misdemeanor for any person other than firemen and policemen and servants of the transportation to appear in uniform or to wear badges of any sort upon the public streets. Such an ordinance, it is thought, will mitigate in part the growing evil.

A HIGH CLASS ATTRACTION

Frame's Company of Entertainers the Very Best.

It is said that to look at the great Scottish comedian, W. F. Frame, is to laugh. He is a natural funny man; his company of eight artists are an admirable support for so clever an actor. The Caledonian society were most fortunate in securing this attraction, as it is seldom they make cities of this size. Major Pond, who is well known to Janesville people, is managing the American tour of Mr. Frame and his company, and the major's reputation for handling only the best attractions, carries much weight. Everything possible is being done to make the Burns anniversary, January 30, the best for many years.

MUST CLEAN THEIR WATCHES

Milwaukee Road's Employees Must See That They Are in Order.

H. R. Williams, general superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, has issued an order to employees stating that in order that watches may be kept up to the standard required, it is important that they be cleaned once each year, and under no circumstances will they be allowed to run longer than eighteen months without cleaning.

When a watch is cleaned by other than regular inspectors—the inspector for this division is F. C. Cook—employees must require the party doing the work to give them a certificate stating date cleaned and name of party doing the work; and this must be shown to the regular inspector for his information and record.

PHILIPPINES ARE LESS TROUBLESOME

GEN. OTIS REPORTS THAT CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING.

Junta Now in Washington Will Labor For the Islands' Independence—Sick Soldiers Are to Be Returned to the United States As Climate Forbids Recovery There.

Washington, Jan. 23.—[Special]—Gen. Corbin said this morning that the delay in ratifying the peace treaty is responsible for the deaths among the troops in the Philippines. The statement is based on the message from Gen. Otis, commander of the troops in the Philippines, who says diseases which cannot be successfully treated in cities would disappear if the hospital could be established in the mountains. But it is impossible on account of the delay in ratifying the treaty and establishing peace. Gen. Otis says he will send a number of convalescents to San Francisco on the Sealanda today. The authorities are gratified to have received a cablegram from Gen. Otis which contains no bad news. He says the general health of the troops is good. This is taken to indicate that affairs at Manila are not so serious as reported.

MEETINGS WERE VERY TAME

Milwaukee People Did Not Express Feelings Very Strongly.

Milwaukee, Jan. 23.—The Milwaukee correspondent of The Chicago Tribune sent his paper the following dispatch: "The indignation meetings called to protest against the Milwaukee members who voted for J. V. Quarles for senator and then deserted him, were failures. The one to protest against Assemblyman Zinn did not materialize at all. About fifty people came to the hall, but there was no one to call the meeting to order and the crowd dispersed without taking any action. In Assemblyman Loth's district there was a meeting, but it was decidedly tame. It was addressed by a number of speakers, who did not criticize him in any way. They said they had every confidence in Mr. Loth and passed resolutions asking him if he could see his way clear to change his mind and vote for Mr. Quarles to do so. 'It looks as though the Quarles men have been scared and called the Zinn meeting off and made the action of the others as mild as possible. The excitement in this city is subsiding.'"

Frank Kitz, the proprietor of the saloon, Nick Mark, the bartender, and Abe Muench, who purchased the liquor, were arrested charged with manslaughter.

They were tried last week, and the jury brought in a verdict today. Kitz is acquitted because he left the saloon before Webster was thrown out. Bartender Marks was convicted, and the jury disagreed as to Muench. The penalty is from one to two years in the state prison.

REV. MR. KEMPTON TAKEN ILL

Stricken Yesterday Morning And Is Suffering From the Grip.

Rev. Arthur C. Kempton, pastor of the Baptist church, was taken suddenly ill yesterday morning, and was unable to conduct services either morning or evening. When he arose in the morning he was attacked with a fainting spell, and did not recover sufficient strength during the day to warrant him in attending to his pulpit duties.

His physician pronounces the ailment to be grip, and thinks he will be incapacitated from duty for some time. Mr. Kempton, however, declared himself much stronger and better today, and hopes that he will be able to enter the pulpit next Sunday. There is, however, no certainty as to this.

There was a large congregation in the church when the time for the morning service arrived. Mr. B. F. Dunwidie assumed the pastor's desk and conducted a brief service, reading the religious experiences of a young woman that possessed more than the usual interest. The church was closed in the evening.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have been taking your Vegetable Compound, and am now ready to sound its praises. It has done wonders for me in relieving me of a tumor.

"My health has been poor for three years. Change of life was working upon me. I was very much bloated and was a burden to myself. Was troubled with smothering spells, also palpitation of the heart and that bearing-down feeling, and could not be on my feet much.

"I was growing worse all the time, until I took your medicine.

"After taking three boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Lozenges, the tumor passed from me.

"My health has been better ever since, can now walk quite a distance and am troubled no more with palpitation of the heart or bloating. I recommend your medicine to all sufferers from female troubles."

"It is hardly reasonable to suppose that any one can doubt the efficiency of Mrs. Pinkham's methods and medicine in the face of the tremendous volume of testimony."

SNOW PROMISES SLEIGHING

A Heavy Fall Set in Hereabouts This Forenoon.

The snowstorm that set in about 11 o'clock today gives promise of continuing until there is good sleighing in this vicinity. The roads are in excellent condition to receive a coating of "the beautiful"—hard and smooth—and a few inches of soft snow will make the sleighing excellent.

While wheeling has been good for the past week or more, farmers have a tender spot in their hearts for a pair of "runners" or "bobs," and will be only too willing to discard their wagons for sleighs. We may look for a season of unwonted activity about the city during the next few weeks, not only among purchasers of farm products but among sellers of general home and farm supplies.

WILL SEE THE TURK WRESTLE

Local Athletes Went to Chicago Today to See the Fun

Quite a number of local admirers of athletes went to Chicago today and will witness the wrestling contest there this evening, when Hali Adali, "the terrible Turk," will attempt to throw "Farmer" Burns, and "Gripman" Rooney four times in ninety minutes in a wrestling match, conditions catch-as-catch-can. The American wrestlers will get the "grip" from the Turk alternately. First one will go on and then the other. That is the calculation of the managers. Should the unexpected happen and one or the other stay on the mat the limit the Mohammedan loses the money, which he also does if four falls do not materialize within the allotted time.

A Queer Chinese Custom.

In China the queer custom prevails among physicians of being paid monthly fee by families so long as they are in health, but the moment a member of the family gets sick the doctor's fee stops. The doctor, therefore, is paid for keeping people well. In America doctors are paid for advice when you are sick. There is, however, one conspicuous example of an eminent and distinguished physician giving consultations and advice absolutely without charge to those who are sick, suffering and out of health, a physician of world-wide celebrity, who has the largest practice and makes the most cures of any physician in the world. We refer to Dr. Greene, 148 State street, Chicago, Ill., discoverer of that wonderful medicine which has cured and is daily curing so many of our people, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Dr. Greene uses only harmless vegetable remedies, and his cures are wonderful in the extreme. The marvelous medicines he has discovered for the cure of various diseases offer the surest means of cure known at the present day, and when it is considered you can consult this most famous of physicians absolutely free of charge, whether you call at his office or write him, it is no wonder that his office is filled with afflicted people, and that seekers after health write him for advice and consult from all parts of the land. If you are wise you will accept this golden opportunity to get well and write him at once about your case.

JACK RABBITS ARE COMING

Proposition to Bring a Few Breeders to This Vicinity

There is talk among some of the local sportsmen of importing a few pairs of jack rabbits from the west and placing them upon the prairies in this vicinity, where it is expected they will breed to such an extent as to furnish an abundance of sport for hunters. The rabbits breed very fast—more rapidly, indeed, than fleas—and it is thought that within a couple of years a single pair will have nearly sixteen millions of descendants. They are ravenous also, and an able bodied jack and his mate will chew the bark off a score of trees in the course of each twenty four hours. The farmers will prize them highly, for a half dozen of the animals will destroy a forty-acre patch of grain in a day.

WHO HESITATES LOSES

Richard Hotaling was in the depths of perplexity as to his status in the affections of a certain, or more properly speaking, a very uncertain, young woman whom he much adored. He had been so deeply in love for more than a year that he had had eyes, ears and thoughts for none other than pretty, fascinating Miss Dormer. Yet, so skillfully had he been managed (whether consciously to herself or not, he knew not), that no word of his could have been construed to give evidence of more than a friendly feeling. There were others in his predicament, and misery always loves company. At the same time he felt there must be an end to all things, and had resolved to bring matters to a state of certainty without further delay, knowing full well that he had made a similar decision a score of times before. She had a way of turning the conversation at most interesting stages, without giving offense and with a show of tact worthy a weightier cause. He could recall any number of times when he was on the eve of making a full avowal, and thought her particularly sympathetic, when a turn of her head, or a glance of her clear gray eyes would throw him back into the old state of dejection and he would leave with the words unsaid. Again, interruptions had come when he was at the point of growing serious, and there had been much in the way of declaring his love.

She must have read it in his eyes, in his every act, yet there were several other fellows who wore their hearts on their sleeves in a much more amazing manner than did he, and who were treated with the same calm impartiality.

There was Hilton, member of every club in town, and possessed of such an income as is never an objection in the affair of the heart. There was Ressler, the captain of his college eleven, adored by all the girls, adoring Miss Dormer only. There were Mallard, Hollister and Smith, all rattling good fellows, to say nothing of one Bookleigh, a sort of literary man with long hair, ready made ties, original poems. No man feared him as a rival, however, for he made his love as common as postage stamps by talking of her to everyone he knew. Moreover, he was the kind of fellow to make a hit with old ladies at afternoon teas, and the men not only considered him more of an ass than any one of their acquaintances, but actually gazed him to his face. Among themselves they jestingly accused him of imperfect cerebration. But in spite of these facts, and that he enjoyed a fair share of Miss Dormer's favor, they liked him because he was kindly-natured and altogether harmless.

As Hotaling chewed the end of his pen, he meditated upon these things; particularly Hilton's ten thousand a year, and wondered if the latter consideration would weigh with Miss Dormer. He believed it would not, and wrote her a note accordingly. He asked for an engagement during the week, adding that he had under consideration an offer to go abroad as foreign correspondent for a daily paper, and that in case of accepting he would sail the next Saturday. He would leave it for her to decide whether he should go or stay. It was his last resource, and he felt that it would bring things to a crisis. If she refused him, he could go away—and forget. If she—but the other possibility plunged him into such a delirium of delightful dreams that he destroyed the missive and resolved he would see her that evening, and set his mind at rest.

There is a popular fallacy that van-man is above such petty considerations as dress and personal adornment. Go! Vanity hath no limitations of sex. As Mr. Richard Hotaling carefully accomplished his toilet that evening, with frequent suggestions from his valet and more frequent glances toward the mirror, he thoroughly appreciated his good points, and valiantly strove to make the most of them; in order to look well in the eyes of her he loved. After donning his dress suit, which he loathed, as most men do, it occurred to him that we would feel easier and consequently appear to better advantage in his Tuxedo. At length, attired to his satisfaction, he felt that he was not so bad a figure of a man after all, and that girl might well be pleased—but, of course, no one ever really knows what a fellow thinks under such circumstances, and all things considered, it was unkind to speculate. However, it was with a feeling akin to hope that he closed the street door and went out into the night.

He was ushered into the music room, where he found her playing a dreamy melody of Chopin. She was alone, and very lovely in soft turquoise crape, which brought out the ruddy gold of her hair and the fairness of her skin to exquisite perfection. She heard him, and turned quickly, with a bright smile, saying:

"How good of you to come tonight! Mother and the boys have gone to the opera, and I am alone for the evening."

"I did not dream of being so fortunate," he murmured, as he took her hand. In some way it did not sound exactly right, but he was fast losing courage, and hardly knew what he said. She sank on a low divan, and as he took the place at her side he observed that she was tantalizingly near to him. Of course, he would have given worlds to take her in his arms at once and tell her all that was in his heart, and have done with suspense.

He felt it would be a trifle irregular, however, and dismissed the thought as he became more at ease under the influence of her smiling eyes. He endeavored repeatedly to lead up to the point in question, but in vain, for she was altogether oblivious to the trend of his thoughts. At length they spoke of the opera the night before.

"To my mind," she said, "there is nothing more exquisite than 'Romeo and Juliet.' The music is heavenly, and the story beautiful—mournfully beautiful."

"Every story of love is beautiful," he said, quickly.

"Yes, love is best of all. It is perfect," she returned, with a far-away look in her eyes.

"I have a chance to go to Vienna as foreign correspondent," he began, precipitately, "but before I decide there is a story I want to tell you."

She was still smiling dreamily, but turned to him with a look of interest. Her silence gave him courage; she seemed to await his next words.

"It is a story of love, of my love for you," he said, desperately, taking her hand.

She withdrew it quickly, with a look of dismay, seeing he was terribly in earnest.

"Will you hear it?" he continued, mistaking her consternation for coyness.

"Is it possible that you have not heard—that you did not receive my note announcing that—"

"Announcing what?" he demanded in amazement.

"My engagement to Morris Bookleigh," she replied, with a happy smile.

He sailed for Vienna the next Saturday.

SWEDISH ORE.

On Which Great Britain Proposes to Draw Largely.

No little attention has been paid lately in the trade and general press to the ore deposits of northern Sweden, from which Great Britain proposes to draw large ore supplies in view of the inability of the mines of the Bilbao district in Spain to furnish ore in adequate quantities, says the American Manufacturer. Long articles have been printed about the richness of the Swedish ores, the inexhaustible deposits and the gigantic scale on which the mines are to be developed. The idea is carried in nearly all these articles that the Swedish ore fields in the Arctic circle have been newly discovered, and that they are both the richest and the largest ore fields in the world. With a moderate amount of truth a large amount of misapprehension and exaggeration has been included in the greater number of these articles. The ore fields of northern Sweden are not new, having been discovered and worked since many decades ago. The ore is rich, but not richer than that of the Spanish peninsula on the Bay of Biscay and scarcely equal to that of the Lake Superior ranges, though better than any German, French or Belgian ores and incomparably superior to the ironstones of England, which are the lowest grade iron ores utilized anywhere in appreciable quantities, their proximity to coal measures, and the immense demand for ore by British iron masters alone enabling their use in any great amount. The necessities of the British iron trade, accentuated by the growing export trade of America, have caused a casting about for newer and better sources of ore supply and the Swedish fields are the most promising. By opening the mines on a larger scale and building a railway with low grades to the Baltic, the British consumers will be enabled to obtain ore at a trifle cheaper than at present, but the principal advantage gained will be the assurance of adequate supply for the future, the signs of exhaustion shown by the mines of Sanfander having grown more numerous of late.

AUSTRALIAN COAL.

Production Has Trebled Within the Last Twenty Years.

The coal of New South Wales was discovered 10 years ago by a shipwrecked sailor, but it has only been worked on a commercial basis within the last fifty years or so, says the Nineteenth Century. The carboniferous strata of Australia are said to extend over 10,000,000 acres. The coal measures of New South Wales cover about 24,000 square miles, with Sydney in the center, although Newcastle is the most accessible port for the coal fields now being worked. In quality the coal of New South Wales is reputedly not much inferior to that of old South Wales for steam raising purposes, and not at all inferior to that of Northumberland. Last year a very large increase took place in the output, which was raised to 4,417,600 tons from 3,910,000 tons in 1896. About three-fourths of the whole output was exported to the Pacific states of America, to China, the eastern archipelago, the Straits Settlements, the Pacific Islands and further India. The production has more than trebled within the last 20 years, and as yet is only a fraction of what it is destined to become. Before Macaulay's New Zealander makes its appearance on London bridge the Newcastle at the antipodes will have become as large and prosperous and important a city as Newcastle on "Coaly Tyne." New South Wales does not monopolize the coal of Australia; that of Queensland is of enormous value, spread over an area of some 14,000 square miles, though as yet the output does not exceed 500,000 tons per annum. For certain markets the ports of Queensland are favorably situated, and the coal of Queensland is destined to play an important part in the commercial future of the Pacific and the east. Victoria produces a little, but not as yet sufficient for her own requirements, and she has to draw from the mother colony. New Zealand has very extensive supplies, hardly as yet tapped, of very excellent coal. Indeed, the colonists are never tired of reminding us that it was with New Zealand coal that the Callopo waged her successful battle with the cyclone at Samoa; and New Zealand coal is regularly used by steamers in the intercolonial and Pacific trades. In western Australia there are large deposits which, when the problem of transport is solved, would find ready markets in the eastern archipelago.

Severe Fire at Olean, N. Y.

Olean, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Fire partly destroyed the Standard oil works in this city early Sunday morning. A pipe in one of the large stills exploded, setting fire to the gas that is always plentiful on top of the stills, blowing it up and scattering the oil over the adjoining works, and doing damage to the extent of $100,000. A large number of oil stills were destroyed, which will close the works until new stills can be made.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1516—Death of Ferdinand the Catholic, consort of Isabella and patron of Columbus.
1806—William Pitt the younger, British statesman, died; born 1759. The second, William Pitt, was the son of Lord Chatham, the friend of the American colonies. He entered parliament at 22 and at 23 was the most powerful subject in Europe.
1812—George Clymer, "signer" for Pennsylvania, died at Morrisville, Pa.; born in Philadelphia 1739.
1838—Rev. Phillips Brooks, the celebrated preacher and Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts, died in Boston; born 1803.
1868—Captain Thomas F. Hines, a noted ex-Confederate, called the "brains of Morgan's cavalry corps," died at Frankfort, Ky.

"BREAK THE DEADLOCK."
Under the above heading "The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin" argues against a protracted struggle in the senatorial caucus, as follows:

"The deadlock at Madison in the republican caucus has become hard and fast. The unfortunate asperities of Wednesday night and later have hopelessly alienated support which else might have gravitated to the leading candidate and ensured his election. The corpse of lost chances cannot be galvanized back to life. Practical men, reluctant as some of them are to come to that conclusion, realize that a situation has developed which releases the Quarles supporters, leaving them free to attach themselves to the candidate of their second choice, and that the sooner they do this the better it will be for the republican party, for every day the deadlock continues will engender new misunderstandings and additional bitterness, and make it harder for republicans to come together hereafter.

"The people of Wisconsin elected a legislature not to choose any particular candidate, but to elect a republican senator. Let the members go ahead and do their duty, undisturbed by artificial excitement outside.

"The duty of republican senators and assemblymen is to break the deadlock and elect a worthy republican for senator."

The Wisconsin's advice should be heeded, and coming from a paper published at Mr. Quarles' home, the article is quite significant. It would be a sore disappointment to the people of this section if Mr. Quarles were not elected, yet, as The Wisconsin says, the people simply want a republican senator, and one should be selected with as little feeling and friction as possible.

Mr. Quarles is the choice of the people of this section, but if he cannot be elected someone else must be chosen. Every hour that the deadlock continues adds to the bitterness between the supporters of the various candidates, and the sooner a choice is made, the better.

In compliance with the orders of Boss Rose, the democracy of Wisconsin has dismissed Senator Mitchell without ever the courtesy of an endorsement. Rose is a hard master, but his word is law.

The Milwaukee Sentinel should profit by General Egan's experience, and not talk too much in one strain.

The senatorial candidates now stand in this order: Babcock, Cook, Quarles, Stephenson, Webb.

Seeks Confederate Graves.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The president's sentiment, expressed in Atlanta recently, that the government should care for the graves of the confederate dead, is bearing fruit. An investigation is now in progress by the war department to locate the graves of the confederates, anticipating some legislation along the lines suggested by the president. Gen. Clement A. Evans of Atlanta has provided the department with a report of the location of graves of 22,166 confederate soldiers, and of this number 10,914 are in Illinois.

SEEKING THE TRUTH.

METHODS APPLIED BY A GERMAN THINKER.

Maeterlinck's Philosophy—A Selection of Aphorisms from the Symbolic Poet's Essay Upon Wisdom and Destiny.

Maeterlinck, giving his attention to didactic literature, has chosen the method of "quickest approach" and we have in it the earnest endeavor of a thinker to discover the abode of truth. He himself describes the book as a few interrupted thoughts that entwine themselves with more or less system around two or three subjects. He declares that there is nothing it undertakes to prove; that there are none whose mission it is to convince. It is in short, a naive, outspoken description of all that passes in his mind, and those who do not accept his theories will still admit that this mind is very beautiful. He says in his new book:

We should live as though we were always on the eve of the great revelation; and we should be ready with welcome, with warmest, and keenest, and fullest, most heartfelt and intelligent welcome.

MAURICE MAETERLINCK.

mate welcome. Let us always remember that nothing befalls us that is not of the nature of ourselves. As we become wiser we escape some of our instinctive destinies. Instinct and destiny are forever confining together; they support one another, and rove, hand in hand, round the man who is not on his guard. We are told that the famous tragedies show us the struggle of man against fate. I believe, on the contrary, that scarcely a drama exists wherein fatality truly does reign. Search as I may, I cannot find one which exhibits the hero in conflict with destiny pure and simple. For, indeed, it is never destiny that he attacks; it is with wisdom he is always at war. Fate exerts a more tyrannous power, by virtue of instinct, heredity and other laws more relentless still, more profound and obscure; but even when we writhe beneath unmerited, crushing misfortune; even when fortune compels us to do the thing we should never have done, when our hands become free; even then, when the deed has been done, the misfortune has happened, it still rests with ourselves, to deny her the least influence on that which shall come to pass in our soul. Reason produces not wisdom, which is rather a craving of soul. It dwells up above, far higher than reason; and thus is it of the nature of veritable wisdom to do countless things whereof reason disapproves, or shall but approve hereafter. So was it that wisdom one day said to reason, "It were well to love one's enemies and return good for evil." Reason, that day, tiptoe on the loftiest peak in its kingdom, at last was fain to agree. The vase wherein we should tend the true wisdom is love, and not reason. The inner life that is surest, most lasting, possessed of the uttermost beauty, must needs be the one that consciousness slowly erects, in itself, with the aid of all that is purest in the soul. The inner life begins when the soul becomes good, and not when the intellect ripens. The striving intellect may well know happiness beyond the reach of the satisfied body; but the soul that grows nobler has joys that are often denied to the striving intellect. Physical suffering apart, not a single sorrow exists that can touch us except through our thoughts; and whence do our thoughts derive the weapons wherewith they attack or defend us? We suffer but little from suffering itself; but from the manner wherein we accept it overwhelming sorrow may spring. It is wrong to think of destiny only in connection with death and disaster. When shall we cease to believe that death, and not life, is important; that misfortune is greater than happiness? Why, when we try to sum up a man's destiny, keep our eyes fixed only on the tears that he shed, and never on the smiles of his joy? Where have we learned that death fixes the value of life, and not life that of death? For intellect may be of the loftiest, mightiest and yet perhaps never draw near unto joy; but in the soul that is gentle, and pure, and good, sorrow cannot forever abide. We have only the right to scorn a joy when such scorn is wholly unconscious. Let us not look to renunciation of happiness till we have sought it elsewhere in vain. It is only one side of morality that unhappiness throws into light; and the man whom sorrow has taught to be wise, is like one who has loved and never been loved in return. It is only the little ephemeral pleasures that forever are smiling; and they die away as they smile.

Those thinkers have learned to love wisdom with a far more intimate love whose lives have been happy, than those whose lives have been sad. There are some who are wholly unable to support the burden of joy. There is a courage of happiness as well as a courage of sorrow. It may even be true that permanent happiness calls for more strength in man than permanent sorrow; for the heart wherein wisdom is not delights more in the expectation of that which it has not yet than in the full possession of all it has ever desired. To know what happiness means is of far more importance to the soul of man than to enjoy it. But are we not saddening ourselves, and learning to sadden others, if we refuse to accept all the happiness offered to man? Thought is a solitary, wandering, fugitive force, which advances towards us today and perhaps on the morrow will vanish; whereas every deed presupposes a permanent army of ideas and desires which have, after lengthy effort, secured foothold in reality. The truest morality tells us to cling, above all, to the duties that return every day, to acts of inexhaustible brotherly kindness. It is not by self-sacrifice that loftiness comes to the soul, but as the soul becomes loftier sacrifice fades out of sight, as the flowers in the valley disappear from the vision of him who toils up the mountain. Justice is the very last thing of all wherewith the universe concerns itself. It is equilibrium that absorbs its attention, and what we term justice is truly nothing but this equilibrium transformed, as honey is nothing but a transformation of the sweetness found in the flower. There is a certain humility that ranks with parasitic virtues, such as sterile self-sacrifice, arbitrary chastity, blind submission, fanatic renunciation, penitence, false shame and many others, which have from time immemorial turned aside from their course the waters of human morality and forced them into a stagnant pool, around which our memory still lingers. For our conduct only to be honest we must have thoughts within us ten times loftier than our conduct. Even to keep somewhat clear of evil bespeaks enormous craving for good. Of all the forces in the world there is none melts so quickly away as the thought that has to descend into every-day life.

WOMAN IN MAN'S POSITION

The first woman to hold the masculine position of circuit clerk of Vernon county, Missouri, was recently appointed by Governor Stephens. She is Mrs. Glessner Moore Brady, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Moore, and the niece of Thomas D. McKay, who was for several years a general passenger agent of the Burlington road at San Francisco, and is now representing American railroads and steamship lines at Yokohama, Japan. Mrs. Brady was born in Nevada, Mo., about twenty-five years ago. She was educated in the school of her native city and at Mary institute, St. Louis. In 1895 she married Henry C. Brady, who was then circuit clerk of Vernon county, and entered his office as deputy clerk. The husband and wife were popular in their office, and last summer, after Mr. Brady's health had failed, he was again nominated for the position and elected. Dec. 2 he died. The following day the local bar of Nevada adopted resolutions urging the appointment of Mrs. Brady to the office just made vacant by the death of her husband. Governor Stephens, familiar with the facts in the case, issued a commission to Mrs. Brady. Dec. 5, and she was sworn in by Judge D. P. Stratton of the Vernon circuit court as circuit clerk of Vernon county.

OLD SETTLER HAS GONE TO HIS REWARD

MARK HONEYSETT PASSES PEACEFULLY AWAY.

Came to Janesville in the Early Days and Has Resided Here for Many Years—Mrs. Lucretia Paul, Noted for Her Piety, Dies—Beloit Mourns.

Mark Honeysett, for years a familiar figure in gatherings of Rock county pioneers and a man universally esteemed, passed away at 7:40 this morning aged sixty-three years and two months. Death resulted from cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Honeysett was a native of England, being born in Sussex county, Nov. 28, 1835.

He was a man of much force of character and was prominent figure in the affairs of his town for years. Twice he was married, and his second wife, who was Mrs. B. Spence, survives him.

Mr. Honeysett found much pleasure in travel and had seen most of the points of interest in the United States. A few years ago he returned to England for a stay of several months, and renewed acquaintance with the scenes of his youth.

His letters from abroad were awaited with much interest by Gazette readers.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the family residence on Pleasant street.

Mrs. Alva Marden.

Julia Ann, oldest daughter of David Clifford, a descendant of that old English family, of whom Justice Nathan Clifford, of the United States supreme bench, and ex-Gov. John H. Clifford are honored members, was born in Grantham, N. H., Jan. 23, 1827. She was married to Alva Marden, Nov. 7, 1848, came to Wisconsin in 1855 and settled in the town of Magnolia. The past seventeen years she has lived two miles west of this city. When twelve years of age she gave her heart to Jesus and united with the Methodist church. For years she was a faithful worker in the church at Magnolia. Although quiet and unassuming, and her influence for good was always felt by those about her. Ever thinking and doing for others rather than for herself, she forgot much of the suffering she was called to pass through. Always ready with a word for her Master, trying to lead her friends to Jesus.

She will be sadly missed, not only by her husband, with whom she had lived for over fifty years, and by her only daughter, Mrs. W. S. Austin, but by her affectionate grandchildren, over whom she always watched so lovingly. Had she lived one more day she would have been seventy-two years old.

She leaves two brothers, Charles Clifford, of Evansville, John Clifford, of Madison; and three sisters, Mrs. Sarah Richards, of Janesville, Mrs. Amanda Partridge, of Minnesota, and Mrs. Mary Bemis, of California. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning from the house, at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Lucretia Paul.

Mrs. Lucretia Paul, died at her home, 56 Rock street, this city, Sunday, January 22, at 11:35 a. m. She has been a sufferer for many years, and a severe case of hemorrhage terminated her life. She was the widow of Lemuel Paul, who died at his home on the farm about one mile from this city in October, 1895.

Mrs. Paul was born in Ontario Co., New York, April 10, 1837, and was married September 27, 1858, to Lemuel Paul. They moved west in 1868, and lived in Delavan, Walworth County, this state, one year, and in 1869 they moved on their farm near this city, where they lived until October, 1897. She leaves four children, Louis V., Edward H., and Mrs. Charles Wright, and Miss Clara Paul, all of this city, besides two stepsons, H. M. Paul, of this city, and A. R. Paul, of Davenport, Iowa.

The funeral services will be held from the home at No. 56 Rock street, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Dennison officiating.

Mrs. James Sutherland.

Ali that was mortal of the late Mrs. James Sutherland was laid to rest, this afternoon in Oak Hill cemetery. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Robert C. Denison, of the Congregational church. There was a large attendance, and the floral offerings were many and beautiful.

The pall bearers were: S. C. Burnham, Ed. F. Carpenter, Charles Conrad, James C. Ebbins, W. T. Vankirk, H. L. McNamara.

Mrs. John Doyle.

Beloit, Wis., Jan. 23.—[Special]—Mrs. John Doyle, aged 66 years, died last night at her home on South Bridge street. Mrs. Doyle has been sick for about two weeks, but her condition was not thought at all serious, and Saturday afternoon a change came and she died. She leaves two daughters and one son, Mrs. Ed Kerwin, of this city, Mrs. Wm. Stone, of Clinton, and Mr. Tom Doyle, of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Asenath Loomer.

From the South Main street home of Mrs. Wright this morning funeral services were held over the remains of the late Mrs. Asenath Loomer. At the close the remains were taken to Millard, Wis., for burial.

Mrs. Peter Lorentzen.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Peter Lorentzen were held from the Emerald Grove church this afternoon. The interment was in the Grove cemetery.

CLINTON JUSTICE SUES THE COUNTY

CRONKRITE TAKES APPEAL TO CIRCUIT COURT.

Has Engaged Local Council to Defend His Rights. That He Says the County Board Ignore—Will Fight to the Bitter End—Other Appeals May Soon Be Taken.

Justice H. N. Cronkrite, of Clinton, Wis., has commenced suit against Rock county for the collection of in the neighborhood of $300, which sum, he claims, is due him for services as a justice of the peace.

Justice Cronkrite has engaged Attorney E. D. McGowan, of this city, and an appeal in the action has already been taken to the circuit court of Rock county, and in all probability the case will be heard at the April term of court.

The action is out of the usual order of cases, and will be watched with unusual interest by every tax paying citizen. The plaintiff for several years past has resided in Clinton, where he has held the office of justice of the peace for several terms. He is a man prominent in politics, and a favorite with all.

Clinton being a junction station has for several years past been a stopping-off spot for tramps of all ages and sizes. Clinton is also well supplied with several able officers of the law, and during these many years past it is alleged that these same officers have made it their special effort at all times to corral and arrest every hobo that left a freight train at Clinton Junction. These hoboes, after being placed in the Clinton lockup, would be brought before Justice Cronkrite, who saw to it that the majority of them were punished by a stiff sentence to the Rock county jail. Each tramp arrested meant just so much expense to the county.

Two years ago so thick were they coming that it began to be common talk all over the county, and several times were the Clinton officials brought to task for what was termed too much of a good thing. For each tramp brought before him Justice Cronkrite was just so much fee money ahead.

This is how he has a large bill now to collect.

At a meeting of the county board last year Clinton official sent in several tramp bills that nearly paralyzed the members. The board then and there declared them all to be nothing short of an outrage, and they not only refused to settle for a small amount, but they refused to settle at all, nor since have they even considered the matter of a settlement.

Justice Cronkrite and the Clinton officers have these many weeks waited patiently, and now that a settlement seems improbable they have commenced suit for collection.

DR. BUNCE AWARDED HEAVY DAMAGES

JOHN H. MYERS WAS THE DEFENDANT.

Sued By His Brother-in-Law For Money Due Him For Caring For His Son Harold—Case Has Been Long Pending—Other Court Matters Passed On.

Judgment for $213.83 and costs, or a total of $238.32, was rendered in the municipal court today in favor of the plaintiff in the action of Dr. William Bunce vs. John H. Myers. The plaintiff is a physician at Oberlin, Ohio, and is a brother-in-law of the defendant. The plaintiff alleged that on or about April 18, 1897, he took Harold Myers, a son of the defendant, to his home with the consent of the boy's father. On January 15, 1898, the plaintiff appeared in the probate court of Lorain county, Ohio, and was then and there appointed as the boy's guardian. The plaintiff alleged that he had provided for the boy and that it was worth the sum of $12 per month; that the boy's father had agreed to pay for the child's keeping. The plaintiff put in a claim for $292 and claimed that Mr. Myers had paid him $10 on April 18, 1897, and $7 on September 5, 1897, and no more. He therefore demanded judgment in the sum of $292. The testimony was taken and submitted without argument. Ruger & Ruger appeared for the plaintiff and William G. Wheeler for the defendant.

Judge Fifield in the municipal court this afternoon rendered his decision in the case of M. H. Rothstein vs. F. L. Quatso, for wages claimed to be due, the plaintiff being awarded $7.14 damages. The question of the costs it to be determined by agreement between the parties. The litigation has been pending for several weeks. Mr. Rothstein sued for several hundred dollars, which he claimed was due him by Mr. Quatso as wages for his services as salesman in his shoe store.

In the case of the State vs. Frank Williams an adjournment was taken till Jan. 31 at 9 o'clock.

John Mulcairns pleaded guilty to being drunk and was fined $3, or eight days in jail. He's in jail.

TRAVELERS WANT A CHANGE

Commercial Men Would Like To See Sebastian System Abandoned.

The abandonment of the Sebastian or "credentia" system of mileage rebate and the substitution of something that will give commercial travelers a little show for their white alley is being agitated among the knights of the grip. The present method of paying $1 for a so-called "credentia" and then buying tickets at the regular rate and waiting for a rebate, appeals to the sense of humor more than fairness of the travelers. They also do not like the 2,000 mile limit, which makes it necessary to pay $1 for another "credentia." What appears to be generally preferred is a 3,000-mile interchangeable book, good on all trains carrying passengers on any and all roads of the Western Passenger association, such books being sold at $75, with rebate of $15, and with passenger's photograph in each book.

MILITARY COMPANY FOR JANESVILLE

GOVERNOR SCOFIELD HAS THE MUSTER ROLL.

Sixty-Five Young and Able Bodied Men From Here Make Out the List—Officers Will Soon Be Sent Here—Different List From the Last One

Present indications are that Janesville will have a military company mustered in within the next few days.

A roll containing the names of sixty-five young men was forwarded to Madison last evening, and is now in the hands of Governor Scofield for his approval. The greater portion of those who have signed the roll are ex-members of Company A.

Since the failure to organize a company here a few weeks ago, active steps have been on foot to make another attempt at organizing. Those who have signed the roll this time have done so with no other intention than to become members, and that Colonel Caldwell, the mustering-in officer, will not be disappointed on his next visit is quite apparent. No hall has as yet been rented, and present indications are that if the Army can be rented at a moderate price of the Trades Council for certain nights in the month, the new company will make that their headquarters. If not they will seek some other hall.

No officers have yet been talked of, although there is plenty of good material in sight.

Following is the petition as forwarded:

To His Excellency, Edward Scofield, Governor of Wisconsin:—Sir—We, the undersigned, being residents and liable to military duty in Rock county, respectfully apply to be organized into a volunteer company under the laws of this state, and the rules and regulations adopted pursuant thereto, for the government of the Wisconsin National Guard.

Dated at Janesville, Wis., January 23, 1899.

Names: Charles L. Hanson, John T. Shepard, Frank C. Boedeltje, Harry Wing, Wm. L. Hanco, Bond Dunford, Herman J. Mantila, Frank Yocums, Elbert Hill, D. A. Kenyon, Hugh Gannon, B. F. ## TO CHECKMATE BRITAIN.

Russian Diplomat on a Mission to Spain.

HIS ERRAND IS SUSPECTED.

Ministers of the Czar at Work to Frustrate the Ambitions Schemes of British Ministers—Civil War in Spain Expected in the Spring.

Madrid, Jan. 23.—Not a word can be extracted from any of the ministers of the government as to the nature of the unofficial mission of the Russian diplomat whose arrival was recently mentioned in these dispatches. Speculation connects him with the cession of the Philippines and with the acknowledged danger to the dynasty from conspirators within and without the peninsula, but it is felt, now that he has gone to Lisbon, that in all probability his visit to Madrid is designed to checkmate any future move of Great Britain toward acquiring the African colonies of Portugal in return for the protection of the dynasty against the revolutionary party in the kingdom.

Repatriated Spanish soldiers, from the Philippines declare the natives will never accept annexation to the United States, despite the conciliatory tendencies of some of their leaders. They say it is easy enough for the Americans by force to occupy the seaports of the archipelago, but that they never will be able to possess themselves of the interior, and they add that the soldiers of Spain ought to know. The insurgents of Luzon, they say, are suspicious of Aguinaldo, who is discredited by his intrigues with the imprisoned monks, and his life is thought to be in danger.

The Filipinos have established a junta in London to work counter to American annexation or control or anything save entire independence.

The Carlist agitation has recommenced, and the government believes it has reason to fear civil war in the spring. The repatriated Cuban army is a tinder box that needs by a spark to fire into open rebellion. Officers and men alike are discontented to the point of insubordination, for their pay is now eight months in arrears.

Battles in Congo State.

Brussels, Jan. 23.—There has been fresh fighting in the Congo state between the Belgian troops and the rebels, the former having sustained heavy losses, including some white officers killed. Le Patriote says: "The real truth as to the situation in the Congo state is being hidden. The losses of the Congo state troops have been much understated here. The whole country is in a ferment and the rebellion is not being put down. The government troops appear to fear the rebels, and the prestige of the whites has been much impaired."

Control Natural Gas Field.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 23.—Almost all of the natural gas supply companies furnishing gas from the field to towns and cities, and also the company supplying the thirty-two Ohio towns and cities, were absorbed by a New York syndicate, headed by Murdoch & Deterich. Over 2,000 miles of mains were taken in, and fully 200 towns, including most of those even in the gas belt, are dependent upon the will of the trust now for their natural gas supply. The capitalization of the new trust is $60,000,000.

Santiago de Cuba, Jan. 23.—The order from the United States military authorities in Havana, directing the authorities of the Santiago military department not to expend a cent of the customs receipts without the permission of the governor-general, and the order directing that hereafter the bulk of the sanitary work shall be done without money pay and for rations merely, were given to the local press for publication yesterday.

El Cubano, commenting upon the instructions of the governor-general, says: "The feeling is prevalent that the only course now is to retire to the mountains."

Nervous Dyspepsia

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Mean.

MAKE A TEST OF STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS.

No trouble is more common or more misunderstood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think their nerves are to blame and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicines. The real seat of the mischief is lost sight of. The stomach is the organ to be looked after.

Nervous dyspeptics often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every organ. In some cases the heart palpitates and is irregular; in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are

PROF. HENRY W. BECKER, A. M., troubled with loss of flesh and appetite with accumulations of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach. They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of flesh and appetite, sleeplessness, palpitation, heartburn, constipation and headache.

"Some weeks ago my brother heard me say something about indigestion, and taking a box from his pocket said 'Try Stuart's Tablets.' I did, and was promptly relieved. Then I investigated the nature of the tablets and became satisfied that they were made of just the right things and in just the right proportions to aid in the assimilation of food. I heartily endorse them in all respects, and I keep them constantly on hand."

La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from the second attack of la grippe this year," says Mr. Jas. A. Jones, publisher of the Lander, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days by the former attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting down." Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—A meeting of the superintendents of the several Illinois hospitals for the insane, held here, recommended that the present asylum for insane criminals at Chester be abandoned and that a new building be erected in a different location. ## NEW ROUTE FOR CANAL.

Engineer Lebaron Tells of His Discovery in Nicaragua.

Cleveland, Jan. 21.—John F. Lebaron, a well-known civil engineer, declares, in an interview, that while engaged as engineer on the old Nicaragua canal he discovered a new and practical route for the inter-oceanic connection.

"I was one of the engineers in charge," said he, "and became thoroughly acquainted with the territory, and when I discovered the new and more practicable route, I at once laid it before the men who were baging the enterprise. But they were pledged to put the canal through on practically the route they had laid out, and did not act on my suggestion, and, furthermore, did not want anything said of the new and shorter route."

"When congress acted on the matter and the president designated a commission to go thoroughly over the ground and report on all feasible routes, I at once wrote the commission, saying that, if it was desired, I would go to Washington and make known my route. I asked for no commission or money, having no other interest in the matter than the public interest. The commission did not see fit to accept my offer, and therefore I have never divulged the route. The commission has reported favorably on the Lull route, which I believe presents obstacles that make it impracticable."

Mr. Lebaron claims that the route he proposed is much shorter than any other, and would cost $22,000,000 less than any yet named. Mr. Lebaron is now an engineer for the American & Honduras company, to which the government of Honduras recently granted valuable concessions.

Many Cases of Smallpox.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 23.—The health board of this city has realized in the last twenty-four hours the city is threatened with an epidemic of smallpox. The case of William Middleton, discovered Saturday, has been thoroughly investigated, resulting in three other infected houses being quarantined and a number of others suspected. All are colored. Middleton is found to have been going about the streets for eight days with a well-defined case of smallpox and no one discovering it. He mingled in the crowds in the thickly populated colored district called Bucktown for four days after the eruptions appeared on his face. The disease was at his sister's house two weeks before that, but the children recovered without a doctor being called.

How the Prevent Pneumonia.

You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of la grippe. During the epidemic of la grippe a few years ago when so many cases resulted in pneumonia, it was observed that the attack was never followed by that disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. It counteracts any tendency of a cold or a grippé to result in that dangerous disease. It is the best remedy in the world for bad colds or la grippe. Every bottle warranted. For sale by Peoples' Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Colored Miners Meet.

Pana, Ill., Jan. 23.—Six hundred colored miners met in the Alabama hotel for the purpose of "getting together" on a plan of campaign to be followed in case the striking miners shall attack them when the militia is removed. ## HARD TO COMBAT.

The Evidence of Our Senses.—What Janesville People Say Is Pretty Good Proof For Janesville People.

When we see it ourselves. When our own ears hear it. When our neighbors tell it. Our friends endorse it. No better evidence can be had. It's not what people say in Maine. Or distant mutterings from California. No deceiving echoes here. Janesville talk about Janesville people.

Public opinion published for the public good. There is no proof like home proof. Home testimony at the back of every box of Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you believe your neighbors? Read this statement made by a citizen:

Mr. E. T. Fish, of 365 Racine St., proprietor of the Fish Dray Line, says: "When I was twenty years of age I fell, injured my back, and ever since that I was troubled more or less with a dull, aching pain across the loins. It never laid me up but it was often painful and annoying. Of late years I have gone to a physician every six months and had myself thoroughly examined under the impression that there might be something wrong with my kidneys. The diagnosis always resulting in the physician claiming these organs were sound, but as the pains existed when I happened to notice in our Janesville papers that Doan's Kidney Pills were guaranteed to cure just such trouble, I procured a box at the Janesville Drug Co.'s store, and took them. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation. My back has not ached since I used them. I have heard others speak very complimentary of them and if I did not know their merit and required such a medicine I would consider it a favor if some one suggested their use to me. For this reason I endorse them."

BRIEF BITS OF HUMOR.

SHE BLUSHED.

And, Come to Think of It, She Had Good Reason To.

Evidently she was from Boston, for Bostoness, you know, know all about the Indian question. She was witnessing the Indian sham battle at the exposition grounds and was deeply interested in Lo and his manner of fighting. After the battle she approached one of the noble Sioux and made an effort to engage him in conversation.

"Heap much fight," said the dear creature in that choice language that all good Indians are supposed to understand.

Lo gazed at the dainty maiden from Beantown and answered never a word. "Heap great show," said the fair maiden. "Injan heap fight. Big pow-wow, heh!"

Lo smiled a stoical smile, drew his blanket closer about his stalwart form and replied:

"Yes, this is indeed a great exposition, and we flatter ourselves that our portion of the entertainment is by no means the least attraction here. May I ask you 'it is' that I have the honor of addressing?"

The dear girl from Boston was thunderstruck. She blushed a rosy red—even Boston girls can blush when they thaw out—and hastily fled.

She had been addressing one of the Carlisle Indian school graduates.—Omaha World-Herald.

High Lights.

A man's best capital is his industry—if he can sell it.

A society woman is one who has learned to smile like a politician.

Friends are those people who act surprised when we tell them how old we are.

A girl never gets over the shock of encountering a man who proposes but once.

Every woman thinks she can make better coffee than any other woman she knows.

When a widow remembers how much sugar a bachelor takes in his tea, he had better look out.

Some women put money in the bank just to have that important feeling when they draw it out.

Being admired by the wrong man always makes a woman mad at him for not being the other one.

A woman selects a husband by herself, but she takes three other women with her to help pick out a hat.—Chicago Record.

Both Hot.

She.—They say that cold hands are a sign of a warm heart.

He.—Yes, and a cold bottle is a sign of a hot time.—Indianapolis Journal.

HE NEVER CAME BACK.

But, to Be Sure, She Could Hardly Blame Him Much.

Some time ago an attractive young woman had a caller, an up to date youth. He came to her home to escort her to a concert, in accordance with a previous understanding. He was a well dressed youth of good family and with a fair modicum of brains. In addition to this he had a high pitched voice of almost soprano-like quality.

When he came to the house on this particular evening, one of the young woman's sisters was upstairs; the other was in the back parlor. The young woman was all ready to accompany him—no, this is not a fairy story—and as they lingered in the hall for a moment while she settled her hat he made several remarks in his topnotch voice. Then they went out.

Just as they passed through the gate they saw the car whizzing by the corner. The next one would be along in about ten minutes. It was chilly outside, and the girl proposed they should step back in the hall and wait until the car was due. So back they went, quietly opening the front door and stepping inside. Just as they were fairly in the hall the sister's voice floated down from above. She was calling to the sister in the back parlor, who, it appears, wasn't there.

"Laura," she cried, "who was the dude with the sissy voice who went away with Nellie?"

The poor girl in the hall shuffled about uneasily, and again the sister above called to the sister below.

"Why don't you answer me, Laura? I asked you who the dude was with the sissy voice?"

This was too much for poor Nellie. Raising her own voice, she sharply called up to the stairway:

"What in the world are you talking about up there?"

"But, of course, the sister above thought it was the sister in the back parlor, and again the query floated down:

"Oh, you are there, are you? I asked you who the dude was with the sissy voice?"

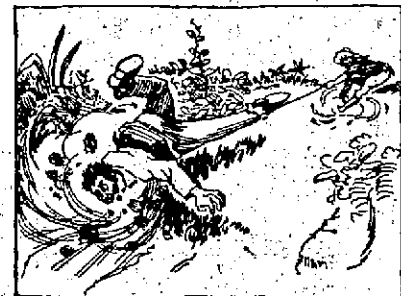

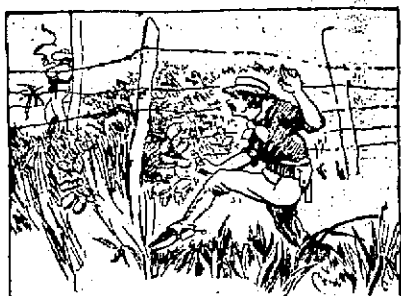

The embarrassed youth looked at his watch.

"I think it's time for that car," he said in tones that were as near an alto as he could make them.

The next day Nellie wrote him an explanatory letter, the only possible explanation being a subtle hint that her unfortunate sister wasn't strictly accountable at times for her unpleasant eccentricities, but the sorely wounded youth never came back.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"I don't know that there is much use of my keeping my school open more than a month or two each year," said the German pedagogue.

"Why is that?" "Our emperor has simplified matters to such an extent that when you ask the name of the world's greatest poet, painter, musician, general, traveler or monarch there is only one answer to all the questions."—Washington Star.

"What is it?" "A patent fender to protect the human heel from baby buggies."—Detroit
